

A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

In another column will be found a notice calling for a special City election to determine the wishes of the citizens of Carson upon the question of building a new school house. That accommodations are inadequate at the central school building has been known to those interested in school matters for a long time; that the building is not an honor to the town must be apparent to the most casual observer. It is well that the Trustees have at last concluded that something ought to be done, and the APPEAL believes that their efforts will be seconded by a heavy majority of ballots reading "Tax, yes." The amount needed will be trifling to the majority of tax payers, and not a hardship upon any, in fact will not increase the rate above what it has been in former years. The new building will be beneficial from a sanitary as well as educational standpoint for the children. It will increase the value of property in Carson and materially benefit the town. Let the voters of Carson show some enterprise in this matter which appeals to every man and woman who has the least interest or pride in the town.

INDIAN SUPERSTITION. — Of Joe Buck, the Indian who was brought to the State Prison Thursday, the Elko Independent contains the following: "From what we can learn of the affair it seems to be a case of Indian superstition. An old 'medicine man' in whose curative powers the red men had great faith, was taken suddenly ill. He stated to his friends that he had been bewitched by a certain squaw and that he would die in a few days, but in three days thereafter he would come to life again. He died all right but failed to awaken as predicted. The failure of his prophecy was attributed to the infernal machinations of the squaw who they believed had bewitched him, and Joe Buck was chosen by a lot to kill her. He then proceeded to do what he thought was his duty, and, entering her 'wickiup,' hit her on the head, dragged her out of the tent and cut her throat. The Indians have expressed their sympathy for the slayer, and will do all they can to secure his release."

THE NEW POSTAGE STAMPS. — The first installment of the new issue of United States postage stamps are out. The stamps are somewhat smaller than those now in use and very much inferior as to quality of paper. The colors of the various denominations of stamps have been changed in several instances. The two cent stamp, the most used denomination, has been changed from green to carmine. The one-cent stamp is light blue, the three cent stamp deep blue, the ten cent green, the fifteen cent purple, the thirty cent gray and ninety-cent orange.

REMARKABLE ENDURANCE. — The Pioche Record tells of a mare which fell into a shaft on the 12th of January and remained there eighteen days before she was discovered. She had nothing to eat except some rotten wood in the bottom of the shaft and the snow which fell or drifted in during the storms. She was given some hay before being rescued and when she reached the surface she trotted off as if nothing had happened.

DEAD CATTLE. — The plains are strewn with dead cattle from Winnemucca to Wells, and the living look decidedly rocky and are dying every day. The loss in all kinds of cattle will be very large, and if cattlemen find 40 per cent. of their cattle in the Spring round-up they will be in luck.

The Central Nevada considers Geo. W. Baker "rather light timber" for the Supreme Bench. At this the Times Review says: Does the Nevada want the bench constructed of saw logs?

Getting their Catalogues.

WE value to the utmost our out-of-town post office acquaintances. Uncle Sam is our hard working ally and we have no disposition to make his tasks lighter. He grumbles a little during busy seasons when an avalanche of mail orders flood his office here, but that matters little so long as you get your goods on time. In these days of steam and electricity it is a luxury to be an out-of-town shopper. No jostling, no confusion—a catalogue, pen and ink, and you receive as much attention as your city friend. The catalogue is a great help—a silent salesman, perhaps the best. You may know, for instance, that you want ten yards of cashmere for a gown, but the catalogue reminds you of linings and other accessories at such a saving in prices that your postage is a cipher. Then it illustrates a new trimming which takes your fancy and your cashmere gown develops into a stylish affair quite impossible in village shopping. By a systematic turning of its pages other necessities confront you which might as well be ordered one time as another, saving time and money, too.

Our new Catalogue is fuller of illustrations than any previous one. We think seeing things as they are is a help—a two-inch illustration tells you more about a lace pattern or a suit of clothes than we could explain in a column. If the new Catalogue shows an improvement on older methods, the out-of-town people are responsible for it. An unusual order generally puts an idea into our heads—which we think out, and put in force in the next issue. This is why our Catalogue is such a useful book and constantly growing larger.

Send your address and a catalogue will be sent you free.
